Working with FERTRI GROWING BENCHES maximizes work output and ergonomic conditions. You'll be able to water your crops much faster and evenly via both flooding and sprinkle systems. With our different models of sliding or rolling benches you'll also make better use of available space since it reduces walkway areas considerably. Depending on what they'll be used for, they can be made with different bottom types: Ebb/flow plastic trays, galvanized metallic net and isolation tray and aluminium sheets for heating benches.
